DRAGON PAINTER

By MARY McNEIL FENOLLOSA (Sidney McCall)

In "The Dragon Painter" we have undoubtedly Mrs. Fenollosa's ripest and most artistic work, in which she reveals the inner depth of Japanese feeling, but along quite different lines. Kano Indara, the last of a mighty line of artists, his beautiful daughter, Umè-ko, and Tatsu, a wild mountain artist, are the chief characters in this original, exotic story.

"Sidney McCall," though a teller of tales, has been reckoned by lecturers and essay-writers, as by Japanese themselves, the truest exponent of Japanese domestic life since the death of the lamented Lafcadio Hearn.

And Other Frontier Sketches

By GEORGE T. BUFFUM

Illustrated with Six Photogravures from Original Drawings by F. T. Wood

8vo, cloth, price, $1.50 net. (Postage 15 cents.)

HERE are twenty of these stories of frontier life connected mainly with the author's personal experiences in the mining camp during the eighteen seventies and early eighties, when the overland stage was in the mail and passenger service and bull teams hauled the freight.

Nearly all of the chief actors in the tragic drama of border settlement and primitive civilization have passed away. The lawlessness which marked those early days when the professional bad men had a very uncomfortable way of handling their guns is vividly described. The deadly strife connected with many of the thrilling events of pioneer life combines the interest of history with the charm of story telling.

Throughout the book the author makes the reader feel the truthfulness of it all. The stories are unusual and founded on the author's own observation and personal experience. There is no exaggeration and no "touches" are put in to attract. The tales are simply true tales, told in a truthful fashion.

Of THE NEW YORK EVENING POST

America's Awakening

12mo, Cloth, $1.25 net.

The triumph of Righteousness in High Places has been seen all over our land. It has a vital meaning for every citizen. Mr. Allen has found much of unrecorded good in us as a people and as individuals, and gives us hope that his silver lining to the cloud is more than simply a reflection—it is a reality and in reality the nation's bulwark.

On the Trail of the Immigrant

Illustrated. 12mo, Cloth, $1.50 net.

Professor Steiner is not a theorist. From the trail to the city he has travelled via the steerage with the foreigner from all over Europe, until he settles in his "quarter" or assimilates with and mingles among the American citizens. He is an optimist, but his observations will be a revelation that should set America thinking and our statesmen to action.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, INDIANAPOLIS

"To Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy" the new Christy book is dedicated by Mr. Christy. It is called THE CHRISTY GIRL and is to be published by The Bobbs-Merrill Company, in November.

The Bobbs-Merrill Company desire to announce that THE CHRISTY GIRL is the most beautiful and elaborate of all the Christy books yet published, and is the crowning event of the series.

The Bobbs-Merrill Company desire further to announce that although THE CHRISTY GIRL contains more full color illustrations than any Christy book previously published, it is sold by a plan which enables the book trade to offer it to patrons at less than one-half the price of any other Howard Chandler Christy book.

The trade will please note the importance of placing an order for THE CHRISTY GIRL, published by The Bobbs-Merrill Company, before purchasing the fall line of gift books. As the manufacture of such an elaborate gift book is necessarily intricate and slow, the indications are The Bobbs-Merrill Company will not be able to supply all the demand before Christmas.

What Mr. Ade has done in his "Fables" and Mr. Dunne in "Dooley's Philosophy," Mr. Outcault now does with Buster Brown's philosophy as expressed in "My Resolutions."

Buster's Message to Grown-Ups

Whereas our other American humorists have chosen the direct method of expressing their "wit and wisdom," Mr. Outcault is more original in using "Buster Brown"—a child—as a means of giving his observations. Thus, his preaching has a genial effect and is apt to be inoffensive. To those who have known Mr. Outcault as a fun-maker only, this book will be an "eye-opener."

Like our greatest American humorist, Mark Twain, he has a serious and thoughtful side, although this is the first time he has shown it to any marked degree in his writings and drawings.

JUST READY
RIDOLFO
THE COMING OF THE DAWN

GISMONDA herself was the real coming of the dawn for Ridolfo of the Baglioni. But how slowly his brain, accustomed only to the ruthless decisions of war and pillage, realized her power, her beauty and her goodness. Before the light broke through the mediæval darkness in which he led his tempestuous life, he had all but crushed this pale, lovely Florentine who alone could save him from himself.

In "Ridolfo" Mr. Egerton Williams has written a notable book, a splendidly constructed historical romance of the Fifteenth century. No finer picture of the savage feudalism of the great Italian families has ever been put into a novel.

The publishers also call special attention to Mr. J. C. Leyendecker's wonderful success in interpreting the spirit and atmosphere of the story in his illustrations.

A. C. MCCLURG & CO., Publishers, CHICAGO

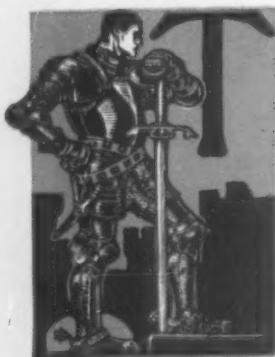

In this vivid manner Mr. Williams presents his lovely heroine GISMONDA:

HE was very young, and sorrow had not laid any harrowing hand upon her fair complexion. Although it had no longer the freshness that must once have bloomed there, and exhibited the paleness that confinement gives, there was a delicacy about the translucent skin that must have come from ancestors more Northern than those of Umbria. This heritage was manifest also in her wide blue eyes, of the hue of northern summer skies,—eyes that bespoke a maiden's soul, that mirrored truth and gentleness and honesty. Such virtues were not contradicted by the full but tender lips, and the placid brow that now was partly furrowed. If other evidence were needed of Germanic ancestry, it was completely furnished by the wealth of light golden hair that hung untressed upon her shoulders,—fine hair, of gentle blood, that would shimmer if the sunlight touched it. A simple gown of light blue cloth embroidered with golden figures enveloped with clinging folds the graceful outlines of her figure. The only article of adornment was a long wide ceinture of dull gold, made of a series of embossed buckles attached one to the other, which fell well below the waist in front when she stood erect; but its unusual elegance was a mark of superior station.

And in strong contrast is described the husband she was to redeem through love, the tyrant RIDOLFO:

HERE came a muffled clangor of steel on stones, and other steel. The clangor and the clash came nearer. An unseen host seemed marching toward the open northern archway of the room. . . . The leader waved back those pressing upon him and stepped between the looped curtains of the arch. He wore a complete suit of Milanese mail, and the light flashed from the engraved gorget with its ailettes guarding the neck, gussets protecting the armpits, and appended tassetts clanking upon the thighs; it gleamed from brassart and elbow-piece, from bainberg and genouillere; it scintillated from the jewelled hilt of the huge two-handed sword. The figure thus encased threw out an air of unutterable power, that was struck not merely from its height and poise, the solidity of the limbs, and the square shoulders of extraordinary breadth and massiveness; it spoke from the dark, imperial head that rose uncapped above the shining steel, upon a thick bare neck whose sinewy amplitude showed many generations of helmet-bearing. The head was broad, yet full behind,—rather of the Teutonic than the Latin type. The forehead was straight and of fair height, the jaw square and of remarkable decision,—the jaw of the conqueror. This alone told the story of Ridolfo de' Baglioni,—the man who never loosed his hold. It was corroborated by the set lines of the wide firm mouth,—a generous mouth, whose full lips were made for sympathy and love, but knew them not. These lips were ruled by the iron will that flashed from the dark brown eyes. And those eyes—it was they which caused the saying that one who had looked upon Ridolfo de' Baglioni never forgot him. They were large and luminous, deep set under lowering, black, and bushy brows; but they gazed at the world with a steady, clear, imperious look that was absolutely without knowledge of fear.

The mighty struggle between these two for the mastery of the man's soul; the supreme devotion of the gentle friar Fra Bernardo even to the death by torture meted out to him by Ridolfo; the machinations of the war-lord's sinister and unscrupulous brother, Malatesta; the final breaking of the light,—all make this story one of extraordinary power and interest.

COMMENTS in ADVANCE of PUBLICATION

"The style is marvelous; it is a book of youth, of enthusiasms; it is unlike anything in our literature."

"Miss Mears has unquestionably the story-teller's gift. Since Ellen Glasgow's 'Descendant' I have read no book that shows such perception, distinction and intellectual power."

"Its interest is in its admirable style. It is also wholesome and full of mature thought. The author is herself an artist and has described her personages and their surroundings with incomparable art."

READY OCTOBER 20

"To succeed, this word unknown a century since, is to-day the sovereign ruler of all lives."

How this desire for recognition may both bless and ban, how it strains at the very breath of the runners as they move, is the theme. The environment is that great under-current art-world just beginning to be known in our new land.

The opening chapters have a surprising flavor of originality, and play with unusual delicacy upon the sympathy that always goes out to one fighting against odds for the attainment of an ideal. These chapters have also the true atmosphere of a section of New York little known by the thousands who pass it daily.

The later portion of the book, with its intensity of struggle and inevitable conclusion, is dramatic and convincing.

Three Magnificent New Novels

TRAFFIC The Story of a Faithful Woman

By E. Temple Thurston, Author of "The Apple of Eden."

Do you want to meet a character that will hold your sympathies spellbound? Do you want to come face to face with some of the knotty, searching problems of our modern life? The reader will find all this in "Traffic," one of the biggest and most compelling stories of the past decade. Throughout Nanno Troy's life problem is interwoven that question, which is to-day of such absorbing interest: the attitude of the church toward divorce. In no work of modern fiction is this attitude and its tendencies more graphically portrayed. 12mo, Cloth bound, $1.50.

By the author of "The Apple of Eden." Taking a young girl from the peasant class of Ireland, strictly brought up in the Catholic faith, the author makes her career illustrate what he claims is the attitude of the Catholic Church towards divorce. The girl is forced into marriage with a man she loathes, who beats her and is unfaithful to her. She leaves him and flies to London, where she earns a living as waitress in a restaurant, and for a time is comparatively happy. A man then comes into her life, who is ignorant of her marriage, and asks her to be his wife. She tells him her story, and although she loves him, positively refuses to apply for a divorce and marry him, fearing excommunication by the Church. She sinks to the lowest stage of degradation that a woman can reach, asserting that God will forgive her this sin, but not that of divorcing her husband.—Publishers' Weekly.

THE GOLD WORSHIPERS

By Harris Burland

Author of "The Black Motor Car," "The Financier," etc.

In the way of exciting fiction there could be nothing more discreetly sensational than this story. It fairly bristles with wonderful incidents. Those who like their fiction well spiced with stirring and surprising incident will appreciate this remarkable story for it is crammed with excitement from start to finish, and is recommended to those who like a story which travels at a whirling pace. 12mo Cloth bound, illustrated, $1.50.

THE BATTLE OF THE WEAK

By Mrs. Henry Dudeney

The life tragedy of a pure woman whom circumstances have mated to the wrong man. A vivid, absorbing and exquisitely told love story, with a strong heart interest that will appeal irresistibly to every woman, and written by a master hand with a literary power, keenness of observation, admirable analysis and characterization, and a wealth of exciting episode that will delight and hold the reader. The book well deserves to rank with the highest in modern fiction. 12mo, Cloth bound, illustrated, $1.50.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY will publish in November "The Christy Girl," with full color illustrations, to be sold by a plan which will enable booksellers to furnish it at a price that will prove tempting to their customers.

MOFFAT, YARD & CO. will have ready very shortly the first edition of "The American Girl," by Howard Chandler Christy, with forty color illustrations, handsomely bound and boxed, sure to be among the fast selling Christmas books. The text as well as the illustrations is Christy's own, and every one knows that Christy is an authority on his subject.

LIFE PUBLISHING COMPANY will shortly issue "The Silent War," by John Ames Mitchell, a story based on the greatest problem of our time, the attitude of the masses against the millionaires. A romantic plot describes the mysterious conspiracy of the People's League, and tells how love and gratitude influenced the most important issues of world problems.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & CO. will have two charming Christmas books in "Colonel Crockett's Co-operative Christmas," by Rupert Hughes, a typical American Christmas story, illustrated by J. J. Gould, and "Shakespeare's Sweetheart." Among their latest novels Guy Thorne's "Made in His Image" is being recognized as one of the strong books of the year. Its theme is timely and the problems of labor and capital are handled with great knowledge of human nature.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. will publish on the 26th inst. "Glimpses of Italian Court Life," by Mrs. Tryphosa Bates Batcheller; "Fighting the Polar Ice," by Anthony Fiala, and "Lawns," by Leonard Barron. They announce for publication in November "Old New England Churches," by Mrs. Dolores Bacon, who tells of the famous events associated with about forty of the best-known churches of New England, of some of the great preachers who occupied these pulpits, and of the prominent families and individuals who helped to make them what they are. Simple enough architecturally as are many of these quiet buildings, the wealth of associations gives them an interest to Americans far greater than the most aspiring English or continental cathedrals.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO. publish to-day "Literary By-Paths in Old England," containing valuable unpublished literary material regarding Hood, Keats, Byron, Wordsworth and Coleridge; "The Silver Crown," by Laura E. Richards, a book of fables for old and young; a reissue in handsome form of Lafcadio Hearn's "Some Chinese Ghosts;" "An Express of '76," a chronicle of the town of York in the war for independence, by Lindley Murray Hubbard; and "Buff: a tale for the thoughtful," by A Physiopath, viewing life, medical theories and practice from the standpoint of nature. Also just ready for young people are "Elinor's College Career," by Julia A. Schwartz; "Brenda's Ward," by Helen Leah Reed; "Old Home Day at Hazelton," by A. G. Plympton, and "Betty Baird," a boarding-school story for girls, by Anna Hamlin Weikel. Next week Little, Brown & Co. will issue "The Dragon Painter," by Mary McNeil Fenollosa (Sidney McCall), author of "The Breath of the Gods," and "Truth Dexter." She now offers a Japanese story of great interest.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

★ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk **, and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. Alston, Leonard. Stoic and Christian in the second century: a comparison of the ethical teaching of Marcus Aurelius with that of contemporary and antecedent Christianity. N. Y., Loëgmans, Green & Co., 1906. 9+147 p. D. cl., **$1 net.

"This book makes no attempt to deal comprehensively with the authors touched upon, but is intended to illustrate merely those aspects of their teaching which to my individual judgment seem to be of the most abiding significance."—The Preface. Appendix contains brief biographical and descriptive notes of Marcus Aurelius and the Early Fathers cited. Author has also written "Modern institutions in outline" and "The obligation of obedience to the law of the state," being the Burney Prize Essay for 1904 at Cambridge University.

Ambler, Sarah Ellmaker. The dear old home; il. by T: McIlvaine. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 5+298 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A girl and a boy of eleven and fourteen go with their grandmother for the summer to the old homestead in Pennsylvania, while their father and mother are in Europe. Aside from the pleasure two city children find in a country life is the quaint picture presented of the Pennsylvania Dutch. The two Dutch children of the story belong to a sect or community called the Amish, a sect which claims to live by the Golden rule. Their habits and customs are closely described.

Ashby, H.: M.D., and Wright, G: Arthur, M.D. The diseases of children, medical and surgical. 5th ed., thoroughly rev. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1905. 26+920 p. il. (partly col.) O. cl., **$5.50 net.

Both authors are connected with the Manchester (Eng.) Children's Hospital, where some 1200 inpatients and some 10,000 out-patients are annually treated. Also here written on pediatrics and physiology. Appendix; Formulae; Index.

Bacon, Mrs. Dolores. Crumbs and his times. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1906. c. 5+173 p. D. cl., $1.

Story of a boy's life up to his seventh year told by his mother, upon whom has fallen the sole responsibility of his up-bringing. Problems of babyhood and boyhood, exploded theories and original experiments are recounted with humor and sympathetic insight.

Barbour, Ralph H: The crimson sweater; with il. by C. M. Relyea. N. Y., Century Co., 1906. [O.] c. 10+367 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Author of "The half-back" and other books for boys. Football is a leading topic in this story of a boys' college. Many other things that go to make up Roy Porter's first year are described—the friends he makes, the hazing he gets, and adventures and misadventures in plenty. His friendship with "Harry," the daughter of the head-master, and his interest in the welfare of her numerous "pets" has a pleasant vein of humor in it.

Beeson, Rebecca Katharine, comp. Child's calendar beautiful; arr. by R. Katharine Beeson. [New ed.] N. Y., Scribner, 1906. c. '05. 16+350 p. D. cl., **$1 net.

Benton, Caroline French. Saturday mornings: a little girl's experiments and discoveries; or, how Margaret learned to keep house. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1906.] c. 8-170 p. D. cl., 75 c.

Margaret is a little girl who received, in addition to her usual Christmas presents, a variety of things hung on a separate tree, such as a dustpan, whisk-broom, gingham aprons, etc., for use in housecleaning, and a little book marked "Saturday mornings," which told her exactly how to make the kitchen fire, set the dining-room table, wash dishes, care for the bedrooms, sweep and dust, market, etc. She experiments every Saturday morning, book in hand, under her mother's guidance, her little reader following in her footsteps and also imbibing information. By the author of "A little cook book for a little girl."

Bierce, Ambrose. The cynic's word book. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1906. [O.] c. 4+234 p. O. cl., **$1 net.

Witty definitions of every day words, supplemented by illustrative poetical quotations.

Blaisdell, Etta Austin and Mary Frances. Boy Blue and his friends. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. c. 4+165 p. il. sq. D. cl., †75 c.

A book of short stories for the youngest readers, written around some of the Mother Goose rhymes.

Blanchard, Amy. Ella. The four Corners Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., 1906. c. 5-387 p. il. D. (Corner ser.) cl., †$1.50.

"The four Corners" are four lively young girls.

of varied characteristics, living in Virginia with a widowed mother, who has to work pretty hard to make her modest means cover the rearing of her little flock. A family disagreement has separated Mrs. Corner and her children from their grandmother Corner, whose handsome place of Uplands is visible from the Corners' home. The making up of this quarrel, the improvement in the Corners' circumstances in consequence, and the homely events of a happy family, furnish reading for girls and boys.

Brace, B: The seventh person. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 5+321 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The "seventh person" was the latest member elected to a Virginia college fraternity called the Gemini, limited to seven members. A possible member of this society must have been born under the full influence of the sign of the Gemini, also his father before him, while his mother must have been born under the full influence of the sign of Aquarius. For life these members are under absolute control of the Supreme Person of the fraternity. The hero is obliged by these rules to go to sea for a year, and afterwards to earn his own living for a year. He strikes the Spanish-American war and afterwards drifts to Mexico, and his adventures make a story of decided originality.

Brent, C: H.; Bp. Liberty, and other sermons. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. c. 9+190 p. D. cl., *$1 net.

Sermons delivered at various times in New York, Washington, Boston, and other cities, with two addresses given in Manila. Bishop Brent is the Episcopal Bishop of the Philippine Islands.

Brinton, Davis. Trusia: a princess of Krovitch; with il. by Walter H. Everett. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., [1906. S.] c. 301 p. col. front. D. cl., †$1.50.

A young American of means, always longing for new adventures, after helping in the Spanish-American troubles again becomes restless. He overhears conversation relating to the impending Russian-Japan war and the encroachments of Russia on the independent provinces on her borders and starts with his valet, an English cockney picked up in the West Indies, to help the Princess of Krovitch recover her little kingdom. The adventures savor of "Graustark" impossibilities, but are told with spirit and much cheerful fun.

Brookfield, C: and Frances. Mrs. Brookfield and her circle. [New ed. in 1 v.] N. Y., Scribner, [1906.] 12+553 p. pors. O. cl., *$3.50 net.

A cheaper, revised edition of this notable book. For notice see "Weekly Record," P. W., Nov. 18, 1905, [1764.]

Brown, Alice. The country road. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. c. 4+341 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Short stories of New England life: A day off; Old Immortality; Bachelor's fancy; The cave of Adullam; A winter's courting; Rosy balm; A sea change; The tree of a thousand leaves; The pilgrim chamber; The twisted tree; The looking-glass; A hermit in Arcadia; A crown of gold.

Brushingham, J. P., D.D. Catching men: studies in vital evangelism; introd. by Bishop Luther B. Wilson. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1906.] c. 222 p. por. D. cl., *75 c. net.

Author is Secretary of the General Conference Commission on Aggressive Evangelism. The latest watchword of Protestantism is Evangelism. All the sects, regardless of non-essentials of differing forms of church government and minor points of historic creeds, are resolved to meet and work for the spiritualizing of humanity on the one essential—belief in Christ. This book explains many of the successful methods of "catching men."

Burrage, Brevet Major H: Sweetser. Gettysburg and Lincoln: the Battle, the Cemetery and the National Park. N. Y., Putnam, 1906. c. 12+224 p. il. pors. maps, O. cl., **$1.50 net.

The author is a war veteran, being Brevet-Major of Maine Vols. He has brought together the records of the battle of Gettysburg, an account of the origin of the National Cemetery, its arrangement, its consecration, with Lincoln's now famous address; also a description of the work of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial Assoc., and the National Park Commission on the National Park. Appendix. Index.

Cholmondeley, Mary. Prisoners fast bound in misery and iron. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co. 1906. [S.] c. '05, '06. 4+346 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

By the author of "Red pottage." An English girl, married to an Italian nobleman much older than herself, grows weary and sends for a cousin, once in love with her, to visit her. They flirt awhile, then the man decides to go away. While he is taking leave of his cousin a murder is committed in the park. He hides in his cousin's bedroom and is found by the police. To save his cousin's reputation he confesses himself the murderer and is imprisoned. Upon her husband's death the widow goes back to England and, to save herself, lets her lover pine in prison for long years. Her state of mind is studied by the author and the final outcome is dramatic.

Clemens, S: Langhorne, [Mark Twain, pseud.] The $30,000 bequest, and other stories. N. Y., Harper, 1906. c. '72-'02. 6+523 p. por. O. uniform with trade ed., cl., †$1.75.

Colling, Emily Marian. Popular dishes: a collection of recipes as used by Emily Marian Colling in her lectures. 4th ed. Oil City, Pa., Derrick Publishing Co., prs., 1906. c. 175+1 p. 12°, pap., 40 c.; cl., 50 c.

Comstock, Mrs. Harriet Theresa. The queen's hostage; il. from drawings by Clyde O. De Land. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. c. 9+319 p. D. †$1.50.

The author of "Tower and throne" again writes a historical romance, of which the events take place in the latter part of the reign of Queen Elizabeth. The "queen's hostage" was the young Lord Ronald, held to insure his father's loyalty. A wayside acting of strolling players, a runaway visit to the Globe Theatre where Shakespeare was acting "Love's labor lost," interviews with the great Queen, and romantic loves scenes, make a dramatic story.

Coryell, J: Russell, [Nick Carter, pseud.] Nick Carter's fall; or, the wonderful result of a guess. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1906.] c. '05. 3-221 p. D. (Magnet lib.) pap., 10 c.

Cotes, Mrs. Sarah Jeannette Duncan, [Mrs. Everard Cotes.] Set in authority. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 4+287 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Both London and Indian society are graphically described in a story of the son of Lady Thame, devoted to altruistic charities, who is "set in authority" as Viceroy of India and governs in accordance with his original ideas about England's true power in her foreign possessions. With much humor and with quiet insight into the politics of England and the trials of the men "set in authority" to do her bidding under so many conflicting conditions in so many lands, the author of "The Imperialist" has written a bright, instructive romance.

Cowper, W: The diverting history of John Gilpin, showing how he went further than he intended and came safe home again; embellished with woodcuts drawn and engraved by Rob. Seaver. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. c. 6-47 p. sq. S. bds., 75 c.

A new edition of Cowper's famous poem, printed and bound in the fashion of the old primers and illustrated on each page with an original and curious woodcut.

Craigie, Mrs. Pearl Mary Theresa Richards, ["John Oliver Hobbes," pseud.] The dream and the business. [Also, An appreciation of Mrs. Craigie as woman and author, by Jos. H. Choate.] N. Y., Appleton, 1906. [O.] c. 385 p. por. D. cl., †$1.50.

A novel of English life which revolves around a set of six people, whose love affairs do not always run smoothly. Jim and Sophie Firmalden are the children of a stern Nonconformist Congregational minister; Lord and Lady Marlesford belong to the Church of Rome; Maurice Lessard is a pagan, a thorough-going Bohemian and a musical genius; Nannie Cloots is a pretty cockney actress, who has been the first love of young Firmalden. The story is told with Mrs. Craigie's well-known wit and satire, and there are a number of religious discussions. Mr. Joseph Choate, late Ambassador to England, opens the book with a sympathetic appreciation of Mrs. Craigie's talents and character.

Crockett, S: Rutherford. The white plume. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 5+346 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

A story of the 16th century, opening on the night of St. Bartholomew. The plots of Catherine de Medici and the Duke de Guise and the fearful scenes of the Inquisition are worked into a tale of intrigue of every kind, relieved by a graceful love story which leaves the heroine a Carmelite nun, having sacrificed her lover to her friend. Philip II. of Spain plays an important part in the romance of the tale.

Daish, J: Broughton. Open letter to Senator B. R. Tillman on rate regulation, [signed: John B. Daish.] N. Y., Freight Publishing Co., [1906.] 12 p. 8°, pap., gratis.

Daish, J: Broughton. Open letter to Senator P. C. Knox on rate regulation; [letter dated Mar. 1, 1906, signed: John B. Daish.] N. Y., Freight Publishing Co., [1906.] 14 p. O. pap., gratis.

De la Pasture, Mrs. Elizabeth Bonham, [Mrs. H: de la Pasture.] A toy tragedy: a story for children; il. by Katharine May Roberts. N. Y., Dutton, 1906. 278 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

Denslow, W: Wallace, and Bragdon, Dudley A. Billy Bounce, by W. W. Denslow and Dudley A. Bragdon; [col.] pictures by W. W. Denslow. N. Y., George W. Dillingham Co., [1906.] c. 279 p. Q. cl., †$1.50.

Billy Bounce is a messenger boy who has been given a wonderful inflated rubber suit by his fairy godfather. This suit enables Billy to bounce for miles with each leap he takes, and of course carries him through many strange countries and among many strange peoples, where he has the most wonderful and funny adventures. The theme of the book is Billy's search for and exposure of all these people and things that are popularly used by nurses and some thoughtless parents to frighten the little ones, such as bogie men, bug bears, ghosts, etc.

Dix, Beulah Marie. Merry lips; with il. by Frank T. Merrill. N. Y., Macmillan, 1906. [S.] c. 6+307 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Merry lips is the nickname of a little English lass whose family are on the side of the king in the civil war of the 17th century. Having been detained in the house of some Roundhead relatives, she is rescued by her brother, and afterwards, dressed in boy's clothes, is cared for in a royalist garrison. When the garrison is forced to evacuate the child is dispatched by the captain to her family under the guidance of the boy Rupert. For weeks they wander in the enemy's country until, after perilous adventures, they fall into the hands of friends, when brave Merry lips is able to throw light on the mystery of Rupert's parentage. By the author of "The fair maid of Greystones," etc.

Downey, Edmund. Charles Lever, his life and his letters. [N. Y., Scribner, imported,] 1906. 2 v., pors. 8°, cl., *$5 net.

Dudeney, Mrs. H: The battle of the weak; or, Gossips Green; il. by Paul Hardy. N. Y., George W. Dillingham Co., [1906. S.] c. 5-362 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The time of this novel is from 1790 to about 1815. The scene throughout is a village on the south coast of England called Gossips Green. Quaker Joy, a lad of unknown parentage, is saved from shipwreck on the night of a great storm and is adopted by two thrifty, childless peasants. As the years pass he changes from a wild, reckless youth to a handsome, intellectual man, evidently of aristocratic birth. He attracts attention of Lucy Bertram, the affianced wife of Dr. Richard Vernon, a young country practitioner. Lucy's married life is most unhappy. She finds consolation finally in the love of Quaker Joy.

Eldridge, Gardner S. The coming man. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, [1906.] c. 2-197 p. D. cl., *75 c. net.

Attempt "to discover the 'coming man'—the man who is slowly vindicating himself by essential worth; who is gradually measuring up to the ultimate tests of a man . . . The study revolves about the personal Christ." The examination is grouped under four headings, viz.: the potential man, the dynamic man, the social man, and the man that is to be.

Eliot, C: W: Great riches. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906.] c. 38 p. D. cl., **75 c. net; limp leath., **$1.50 net.

The President of Harvard University discourses on the problem of "great riches" in the attitude of calm inquiry and quiet judgment. He notes the obligations as well as the powers of the moneyed class; the praise which is due the creators of honest wealth; and the need of publicity as a safeguard to business. "It is quite unnecessary," he says, "to feel alarm about the rise of a permanent class of very rich people. To transmit great estates is hard. They get divided or dispersed."

Ellis, E: Sylvester. A hunt on snow shoes; il. by Edwin J. Prittie. Phil., John C. Winston Co., [1906.] c. 362 p. 12°, (Up and doing ser.) cl., †75 c.

Two boys, Clarence and Sidney Langdon, decide to spend the holidays with Pierre, an old French-Canadian trapper, who has promised to take them on a moose hunt. There are other thrilling episodes beside the moose hunt. They are attacked by a howling, hungry pack of wolves, barely escape the clutches of a gigantic bear, and have other adventures.

Faulkner, J: Alfred. Cyprian: the churchman. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1906.] c. 226 p. D. (Men of the kingdom.) cl., *$1 net.

Findlater, Jane Helen. The ladder to the stars. N. Y., Appleton, 1906. c. 3+346 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

An English girl of twenty-four, living in a rural neighborhood with commonplace people, is stirred by the wish to know, to be, to accomplish. Accidentally she meets a visitor at the manor house, who lends her books and gets his sister to patronize her and make her presentable while visiting them in London. As she advances in learning and knowledge she becomes more and more restless and dissatisfied. Her vanity awakes, and she makes "copy" for an advanced newspaper of all the peculiarities of relations and friends and is disliked among her own. Finally love teaches her the secret of climbing "the ladder to the stars."

Fleming, May Agnes. A wonderful woman; or, Rose O'Donnell's secret. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1906.] c. 3-394 p. D. (Eagle ser. of popular fiction.) pap., 10 c.

Forbes, W: G. A fight to a finish; or, Ben Bradley up against a tough proposition. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1906.] c. 3-224 p. D. (Magnet lib.) pap., 10 c.

Forbush, W: Byron. Ecclesiastes in the metre of Omar; with an introd. essay on "Ecclesiastes" and the "Rubáiyát." Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. [O.] c. 5+105 p. O. cl., **$1.25 net.

Author has just been called to the Woodward Ave., Presbyterian Church in Detroit, Mich. The old Hebrew book, as here paraphrased in the familiar quatrains of Fitzgerald, shows the similarity in spirit of the Preacher and of Omar Khayyam. Carefully printed and suitable for holiday presentation to lovers of poetry and to Bible students.

Ford, Paul Leicester. A warning to lovers. [Also] "Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander"; with [col.] il. by H: Hutt and decorations by T. M. Cleland. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1906. c. '98. 4+104 p. O. cl., †$1.50.

Two short love stories, printed as holiday gift-books, with full-page illustrations in colors, the text being set in blue floral border designs on heavy paper; decorated covers.

Foster, Edith Francis. Marigold; il. by the author. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1906.] c. 6-252 p. D. cl., †$1.

A story for young girls, relating to the doings of a group of girls and boys at the seashore. By the author of "Mary 'n' Mary" and other stories for the young.

Galloway, T: Walton. First course in zoology: a text-book for secondary schools, normal schools and colleges. Phil., P. Blakiston's Son & Co., 1906. c. 10+481 p. il. O. cl., **$2.50 net.

Based on class experience of the author, who is professor of biology in the James Millikin University, Decatur, Ill. Divided into two parts, the first dealing with broad biological problems and principles; the second, in which the various principal phyla of animals are taken up in succession, beginning with the lowest. Chapter of Suggestions to teachers containing a 3-page bibliography. Index.

Gates, Eleanor, [Mrs. R: Walton Tully.] The plow-woman. N. Y., McClure, Phillips & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 5+364 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A cross-grained, crippled ex-section boss of a Texas railroad, and an unreconciled Confederate, immigrates with his two daughters to North Dakota, opposite a military post. The oldest daughter, Dallas, is the plow-woman, and she at once begins to cultivate the virgin fields for her incompetent father and sister. They have much trouble with Indians and land grabbers, during all of which the plow-woman grows more competent, more lovable and more womanly. A good picture of Western "shack" life and marvellous railroad building "just after the war."

Gerstäcker, Friedrich Wilhelm Christian. Germelshausen; tr. from the German by Clara M. Lathrop; [frontispiece by E. Boyd Smith.] N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co.,

[1906.] c. 3+46 p. D. (Chiswick ser.) cl., **50 c. net.

A translation of a little German classic. The quaint tale of a sunken village which comes to life one day in every hundred years. Printed in black and red.

Goodsell, Dan. Ayres, Bp. Peter the hermit: a story of enthusiasm. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1906.] c. 101 p. D. (Men of the kingdom.) cl., *$1 net.

Peter the hermit, or Peter of Amiens, was born about 1050 and died in Belgium in 1115. He preached the first Crusade, led the advance division as far as Asia Minor in 1096, and took part in the capture of Jerusalem. The author, who is a bishop in the Methodist church, has drawn largely on French and German works for this biography.

Graham, Harry, ["Col. D. Streamer," pseud.] Misrepresentative women; il. by Dan. Sayre Groesbeck. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 120 p. sq. S. bds., $1.

Seventeen satirical and humorous poems on Eve, Lady Godiva, Miss Corelli, Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, Mrs. Grundy, Dame Rumor, and Mrs. Christopher Columbus, with others entitled The cry of the children; The author to his hostess; The self-made father to his ready-made son, etc. Also an Epithalamium addressed to Miss Roosevelt and Mr. Longworth.

Haggard, H: Rider. The spirit of Bambatse: a romance. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. c. 4+329 p. il. D. cl., †$1.50.

Tale of buried treasure; of an Englishman, his daughter, Benita, and his partner, a German Jew, who go to seek the treasure in the ruined fortress of Bambatse, near the Zambesi River in Africa; of how the Matabele attack them and the friendly natives; of how the Jew goes mad through greed and love; and of how Benita at the last extremity finds a way out of the fortress, discovers the sacks of gold, and among the Matabele comes upon her English lover long mourned as dead. Mesmerism plays its part in the unfolding of the plot.

Hale, E: Everett. The man without a country; [frontispiece by Clyde De Land.] N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906.] c. 2+52 p. D. (Chiswick ser.) cl., **50 c. net. New edition of this classic, printed in black and red.

Prompted by the fact that few Americans travel in their own county, Dr. Hale has tried to give the reader some idea of what he ought to see, and to quicken his enthusiasm for travel at home. His book describes with personal reminiscences interesting regions in the different New England states and New York, touching on their historical associations, and two chapters are devoted to Washington, then and now. Illustrated by many reproductions of old prints, engravings and portraits, as well as modern photographs.

Hall, Sir S: A short history of the Oxford Movement. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 10+267 p. D. cl., *$1.50 net.

The Oxford or Tractarian Movement was begun in 1833 by tutors and clergy at Oxford to defend the Established Church of England against the inroads of Popery and of Methodism, liberalism and radicalism, and to arouse the church to comprehend her position and duties; and as it developed it became a movement towards High-church principles. Such men as Hurrell, Froude, Keble, Pusey and Newman were its adherents, and its appeals were voiced in the ninety "Tracts for the times" written by Newman and the others. The author here endeavors to explain how this movement arose; who were its leaders; how it proceeded; what were its results. Index. Principle authorities used (2 p.).

Hart, Lewis Alexander. A Jewish reply to Christian evangelists. N. Y., Bloch Publishing Co., 1906. c. 10+239 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Author was formerly lecturer on the theory and practice of notarial deeds and proceedings in the Faculty of Law, McGill University, Montreal. The articles contained in this book were written as communications to the Jewish Times of Montreal, and were published in the columns of that paper periodically from the 2d of February, 1900, to the 19th of May, 1904. As its title implies, it is an answer to some of the arguments that Christian evangelists advance in support of the fundamental doctrines of their religion, and by which they endeavor to procure the conversion of Jews to Christianity.

Her brother's letters; wherein Miss Christine Carson, of Cincinnati, is shown how the affairs of girls and women are regarded by men in general and, in particular, by her brother, Lent Carson, lawyer, of New York City. Anonymous; drawings by F. Vaux Wilson and C. M. Relyea. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 7+217 p. D. cl., †$1.25.

A series of frank letters from a brother in New York to a sister in Cincinnati answering the question: What do men think of women and their affairs? Frank talks on dress, décolleté, dancing, engagements, wild oats, etc. Also two of the sister's letters to her brother. Published serially in the Ladies' Home Journal.

Hemyng, Bracebridge. Jack Harkaway at Oxford. N. Y., Street & Smith, [1906.] 3-249 p. D. (Medal lib.) pap., 10 c.

Hichens, Rob. Smythe. The call of the blood; il, by Orson Lowell. N. Y., Harper, 1906. [O.] c. 4+485 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The author of "The garden of Allah" has laid the scene chiefly in Sicily. He has spent his time, while writing, among the people he pictures so vividly. Hermione Lester, a cultured English woman, marries a man considerably younger than herself, who is of Southern ancestry. Heroine plans to spend the honeymoon in Sicily. The Southern nature of the youth awakes, he feels his kinship with the peasants, joins in their sports, loses his heart to a beautiful peasant girl, and meets his fate at her father's hands. This story of Southern temperament attracted wide attention during its publication in Harper's Bazaar.

The Dean of the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge tries to discover the secrets of a happy home life and to set them forth plainly under the sub-titles: The business of being a wife; The business of being a mother; The business of being a father. Printed in two colors.

Hogue, Wilson T: Hymns that are immortal, with some account of their authorship, origin, history and influence. Chic., [Free Methodist Publishing House,] 1906. c. 19+326 p. pors. 12°, cl., $1.

Holmes, Gordon. The late tenant. N. Y., Edward J. Clode, 1906. c. 6+285 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The tenancy of an ordinary flat in an ordinary London mansion led to the discovery of diaries, documents and pictures behind pictures which all bore witness that "the late tenant," a woman deserted by a false husband, had died of a broken heart. Her sister Violet is the heroine, and her life is also influenced by the false husband, who under two names interferes with her romance with the new tenant of the flat. A soubrette actress and a servant girl, paid to give false witness, also help to make still more intricate the complicated plot.

Hepkins, Louise Martin. Signal lights: a story of life on the prairies. Bost., C. M. Clark Publishing Co., 1906. c. 5+336 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of frontier life on the borderland of civilization in a military outpost situated on a branch of the Republican River, about fifty miles southwest of Fort Kearney. Story opens in 1858, and is of the good old-fashioned kind, bristling with adventures for Indians and "pale-faces."

Hough, Lynn Harold. Athanasius: the hero. Cin., Jennings & Graham, [1906.] c. 172 p. D. (Men of the kingdom.) cl., *$1 net.

Hyde, A. G. George Herbert and his times; with 32 il. N. Y., Putnam, 1906. 327 p. por. O. cl., $2.75.

The "poet of the Temple" lived in the interval between Queen Elizabeth and the great civil war in England. Gives account of his family, public oratorship at Cambridge, his relations with James I., his part in the ecclesiastical controversies of the day, his final laying aside of courtier's dress and sword for the humble garb of a village priest. Valuable for the estimate of Herbert's place among the religious poets and writers of the 17th century, and the influence of his works on the thought and life of later times.

Hyslop, Ja. Hervey. Borderland of psychical research. Bost., Herbert D. Turner & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 8+425 p. D. cl., **$1.50 net.

Author was formerly professor of ethics and logic in Columbia College; vice-president of the Society for Psychical Research. This work is not a sequel to "Science and a future life" and "Enigmas of psychical research." On the contrary, it rather leads up to them and may help to aid the understanding of them by indicating what the means of discrimination are between the normal and abnormal on the one hand, and between both of these and the supernormal on the other. Not intended for the scientific student of psychology, "but for the layman who wishes to understand the difficulties that attend the conversion of the more educated world to the more recondite problems of psychic research."

Jackson, J: H. History of education from the Greeks to the present time. 2d ed. [Colorado Springs, John H. Jackson,] 1905. [1906.] c. 304 p. pors. 12°, cl., $1.25.

James, G: Wharton. The story of Scruggles; il, from drawings by Sears Gallagher, and from photographs. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. c. 7+88 p. D. cl., †$1.

The story of a little song-sparrow that Mr. James found weak, crippled and unable to fly. He took the little bird to his home and it became his constant companion while he was writing his book "In and out of the old missions of California."

Jenks, Tudor. Our army for our boys: a brief story of its organization, development and equipment from 1775 to the present day; [col.] pictures by H. A. Ogden; text by Tudor Jenks. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., [1906. S.] c. unp. obl. O. cl., **$2 net.

Designed to interest American boys in the army of the United States. Mr. Ogden's drawings are accurate pictures of the uniforms worn by our men and officers since 1775.

Keith, Marian. The silver maple: a story of upper Canada. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1906.] c. 6-357 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Story of Ontario, Canada, in its earlier days, when feeling ran high between the Scotch and Irish settlers. Scotty Macdonald, whose real name is Ralph Stanwell, is intensely proud of his Highland kindred who have brought him up and correspondingly ashamed of his English name. He is a sturdy, courageous, ambitious fellow, not satisfied with the life of a lumberman. How the chance came for education, how he made his just decision, why he went to Egypt with the army sent to succor Chinese Gordon, and how the mystery surrounding his birth was cleared away and restitution made at last, are all here unfolded. A pretty love story binds the incidents together. By the author of "Duncan Polite."

Keyser, Leander Sylvester. The only way out. 2d ed. Canal Dover, O., O. L. Youngen & Co., 1906. c. 11-336 p. D. cl., $1.

A young man, keen of intellect, witty and eloquent and "an honest skeptic" goes to college, where he meets a girl, his intellectual equal, as pronounced in her unquestioning faith as he in his skepticism. They become attracted, but the difference of belief leads to many discussions, which again lead to separation. A rival appears, there are many trials, and finally the hero finds "the only way out." Published many years ago by Anson D. F. Randolph & Co., but long out of print.

King, W.: Archbp. A great Archbishop of Dublin, William King, D.D., 1650-1729: his autobiography, family and a selection from his correspondence; ed. by Sir Charles Simeon King. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 7-332 p. pors. O. cl., *$3 net.

Archbishop King was the son of Scotch parents who settled in Ireland. He was successively Bishop of Derry and Archbishop of Dublin, played an active part in the affairs of his time and wrote several books. This volume is divided into the following parts: Introduction; the Autobiography, translated from the Latin; Archbishop King's will; Some account of his family; Correspondence, including letters from Dean Swift, Addison, and other noted men, some two hundred pages; Miscellanea; Index.

Kipling, Rudyard. Puck of Pook's Hill; il. by Arthur Rackham. N. Y., Doubleday, Page & Co., 1906. c. '05, '06. 2-275 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

Una and Dan, two imaginative children, are acting bits of "Midsummer night's dream" in a field near Pook's Hill on Midsummer Eve, when Puck himself, "the oldest Old Thing in England," suddenly appears and tells them of Weland's sword. And in the days following he unfolds to them other tales of the long-ago in England, of Sir Richard Dalyngridge, who came over with the Conqueror; Parnesius, a centurion of the Thirtieth Roman legion; Kadmiel, the Jew who lent money to King John, etc. There are ten of these stories, six of which have appeared in McClure's Magazine under the title of "Robin Goodfellow—his friends;" and each is followed by a poem.

Knox, G: W: The spirit of the Orient. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906. S.] c. 17-308 p. il. O. cl., **$1.50 net.

Prof. Knox, who has spent many years in the East, studying its peoples and its problems, here records his observations and deductions regarding the awakened East. Three chapters are devoted to America and the East, The American point of view, and The Asiatic point of view; then follows detailed consideration of India, China and Japan, with a summing up of present conditions in the New World, in which connection it may be said that Prof. Knox believes there is no fear of the "yellow peril." Bibliography with brief annotations (2 p.).

Kobbé, Gustav. Famous American songs. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906. S.] c. '05, '06. 18-169 p. il. pors. D. cl., **$1.50 net; limp leath., **$2.50 net.

Author of "The loves of great composers." Beginning with "Home, sweet home" Mr. Kobbé tells how the song happened to be written, where it was first sung, and many incidents in the wandering career of Payne, the man who had no home. The same method is followed in the case of other songs—"Old folks at home," "Dixie," "Ben Bolt," "The star-spangled banner," "Yankee Doodle," "Hail Columbia," and "America" and "Some war songs." Printed in black letter type, and with red initial letters.

Kuhns, Oscar. Saint Francis of Assisi. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906. S.] c. 4-38 p. D. (Chiswick ser.) cl., **50 c. net.

A study of the life of this famous church saint. Author is professor in Wesleyan University. Book printed in black and red and illustrated from rare prints.

Labiche, Eugène Marie, and Martin, Edouard. Le voyage de Monsieur Perrichon: comedie en quatre actes; ed. by I. H. B. Spears. Bost., Ginn, [1906.] c. '05. 8-144 p. map, S. (International modern language ser.) cl., 35 c.

The editor is one of the faculty of the William Penn Charter School, Phila. An admirable text for use in preparation for the College Entrance Examinations, the story of the play is so humorous and diverting. The present edition has been prepared with the view of removing the difficulties of rapid and occasionally elliptical dialogue, and of emphasizing the desirability of rendering this dialogue into idiomatic, and equally real English, bringing out the force of the text, so far as the difference in language will allow, by the available equivalents in our own tongue.

Lansdale, Maria Hornor. The châteaux of Touraine; il. with [col.] pictures by Jules Guérin and by photographs. N. Y., Century Co., 1906. [O.] c. 17-363 p. O. cl., **$6 net.

The twelve Touraine châteaux with which this beautiful volume has to do are Plessis les Tours, Loches, Chinon, Langeais, Amboise, Blois, Luynes, Chenonceaux, Azay-le-Rideau, Chaumont, Chambord, and Cheverney. Their unique architecture and interior decorations, with their picturesque surroundings, are described in detail. The tragedies and romances that cling to them, stories of dead and gone kings and queens, have been woven into an accurate narrative of vivid interest covering one of the most fascinating periods in French history. There are over forty reproductions in black and tint of photographs of many details of the châteaux, and sixteen reproductions in color of drawings by Jules Guérin. The text is printed in black, with red initials, folios and running heads.

Larned, Josephus Nelson. Books, culture and character. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. c. 4-187 p. D. cl., **$1 net.

By the author of "A primer of right and wrong" and various school histories. Mr. Larned is both an educator and a librarian.

Lloyd, Nelson McAllister. The Robberies Company, Ltd. N. Y., Scribner, 1906. [S.] c. il. D. cl., *$1.50.

The Robberies Company was a society of highly educated reformers who planned to remove by force the superfluities of daily life. In the guise of hired servants they get into the rich hero's house and control his every action. A rumor that he is engaged brings a wonderful supply of wedding gifts, which are all returned to the owners by the Robberies Company. Much good philosophy and much humor are worked into the conversations by which the hero learns to know the real importance of life and the relative value of his possessions.

Lobdell, Mrs. Julia Harrison, comp. Bentley gleanings; comp. and pub. by (Mrs.) Julia Harrison Lobdell: family of John Witherstone. Chic., [Mrs. Julia H. Lobdell,] 1905, [1906.] 128 p. fold. map, 8°, cl., $1.

MacColl, Malcolm, D.D. The Royal Commission and the Ornaments rubric. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 110+398 p. O. cl., **$4 net.

Examination and discussion of the Book of common prayer, more especially the interpretation of its Ornaments rubric (in the English Prayer-book) which authorizes the ornaments, i.e., vestments, altar fittings, etc., allowable in the services. The book has grown out of the examination in 1904 of its author, who is a canon of Ripon (Eng.) Cathedral, before the Royal Commission on Ecclesiastical Discipline concerning the meaning of the Ornaments rubric. Verbatim report of this examination is given in an appendix. In the Introduction the author, after a general survey of the subject, makes an earnest plea for church unity, not uniformity in non-essentials. Remainder of the book is a careful study of Prayer-book history during the reigns of Henry VIII., Edward VI., Elizabeth, and in later days. Index. The report of this Royal Commission has been issued this past summer, the recommendations it makes looking to a revision of the Ornaments rubric.

McGovern, J: The fireside university for home circle study and entertainment; with complete indexes. Chic., Union Publishing House, [1906.] c. 17-543+14 p. il. pors. 8°, cl., marble edges, $2.75; gilt edges, $3.

Author is emeritus professor of history and theory of inductive science in the University of Vienna. Three essays written originally for The Monist, which appeared in April, 1901, July, 1902, and October, 1903. Now put into permanent form in the belief that they constitute an indispensable contribution to the discussions now waging concerning the philosophical foundations of metageometry, or conceptions beyond the explanations of ordinary geometry.

Magnay, Sir W: The master spirit; il. by J. Cameron. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. [O.] c. 6+319 p. 12°, cl., +$1.50.

The "master spirit" was a great lawyer, paralyzed by an accident, who directs the work of another lawyer entrusted with great cases. At last there is a murder case in which the two lawyers take opposite sides. The "master spirit" has been getting better unknown to his henchman, and is able to walk and have serious influence on the trial of the great case. The murderer is tracked, and the denouement will be a surprise to the most expert novel reader. London is the scene. The love affairs of the plot are certainly not smooth, but at the eleventh hour punishment is meted out to the right person.

Malone, Frank. Mathematical dexterities; or, the shortest way possible to reach accurate and quick results: a self instructor for home study and a guide and reference to all who desire to be practical in business life. St. Louis, Mo., [Frank Malone,] 1906. c. 164 p. il. por. 16°, cl., $1.

Miller, Ja. Russell, D.D. A heart garden. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906.] S. c. 5+294 p. S. bds., **65 c. net.

The latest book from the author's pen. It is a message of comfort and cheer; its keynote is found in its opening lines: "A good woman said 'My heart is a little garden and God is planting flowers there.' Every heart should be a little garden, full of sweet and beautiful plants and flowers."

Moore, H. C. Afloat on the Dogger Bank: a story of adventure in the North Sea and in China; il. by J. Prater. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1906.] c. 7-321 p. D. cl., +$1.25.

Mr. Page, a prosperous Lincolnshire man, is negotiating for the purchase of a steam trawler to start a business for his son, but doubts the statements made him by the owners. Charlie, the son, a lad of sixteen, proposes to his father that he shall go aboard the trawler in the disguise of an ordinary seaman and learn her real condition. He pluckily carries out his plan, quickly discovers the skipper is brutal and dishonest, and learns all about North Sea fishing. He deserts the ship, under justifiable circumstances, in company with an educated Chinaman, that chance has placed in the power of the skipper. Later they go together to China during the Boxer riots to recover a hidden treasure.

Morse, E: Sylvester. Mars and its mystery. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. [O.] c. 8+192 p. il. O. cl., **$2 net.

Prof. Morse is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, and author of "Glimpses of China and Chinese homes" and other works. This is a study of the planet Mars for the general reader. The author spent thirty-four consecutive nights at the famous Lowell Observatory, Flagstaff, Arizona, 7000 feet above sea-level, observing the markings or the canals on Mars. He presents the results of his observations in concise popular form. Also comments on the attitude of astronomers towards the canals on Mars.

Moses, Josiah. Pathological aspects of religions. N. Y., G. E. Stechert, 1906. 264 p. O. (American Journal of Religious Psychology and Education, Monograph supplement.) pap., **$1.50 net.

A dissertation submitted to the faculty of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, and accepted on the recommendation of G. Stanley Hall, who writes the introductory notes. The contents cover: Definitions of religion classified; Emotional element in religion; Mysticism; Symbolism, fetishism and interpretation; The intellectual element in religion; and The volitional element of religion. Author wishes to teach that religious life is no more exempt from disease than is every organ and tissue of the body. There is no disparagement of true religion.

Moses, Montrose Jonas. Famous actor families in America. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906. S.] c. 8+331 p. pors. O. cl., **$2 net.

An account of the families of the Booths, Jeffersons, Sotherns, Boucicaults, Hacketts, Drews and Barrymores, Wallacks, Davenports, Hollands and Powers. Many anecdotes and new facts are woven in these biographies of famous actors. The opening chapter is entitled "To-day and yesterday," being a picture of the stage as it was and as it is. Bibliography (25 p.).

The little girl whose unexciting life is chronicled in this little book, comes to the city from the country when about eight years old. Her life had hitherto been lonely, as she had only a brother to play with, but she meets her cousin Gladys in the city, goes to school with her, shares in her plays and figures in a number of episodes both with her and alone, which illustrate the character of a very attractive child. Simply written for children of about eight years.

Railway organization and working: a series of lectures delivered before the railway classes of the University of Chicago; ed. by Ernest Ritson Dewsnup. Chic., University of Chicago Press, 1906. [O.] c. 8+498 p. D. cl., **$2 net.

The University of Chicago, in association with a number of railways, has undertaken the training of railway employees to increase their professional efficiency. The courses furnished deal with the traffic, auditing, operating and other sides of the American railway. This volume is a compilation of scattered lectures, and does not claim to be a balanced treatment of the whole subject of railway transportation. More than a score of railway experts have collaborated in its production.

Raine, Allen, [pseud. for Mrs. Beynon Puddicombe.] Queen of the Rushes: a tale of the Welsh country. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., [1906. S.] c. 397 p. D. cl., †$1.50. A little girl of ten sees the ship sink on which her mother is returning to Wales. She is stricken dumb by the shock, and for eight years lives her silent life on a seaside farm, the protégée of an autocratic young farmer, whose father had perished in the same ill-fated ship. She is beautiful and like a queen in her quiet dignity. The farmer marries a wife devoted to Methodist revival meetings, which finally influence her mental power. At another crucial moment in her life the dumb girl's speech is restored, and she becomes a power for good in the lives of several people among whom she has lived her peculiar life.

Reid, W: Max. The story of old Fort Johnson; il. by J: Arthur Maney. N. Y., Putnam, 1906. c. 12+240 p. O. cl., **$3 net. net.

Through the generosity of Major-General John Watts de Peyster Old Fort Johnson, on the Mohawk, N. Y., is now the property of the Montgomery County Historical Society, and to his memory this history of the historic building is dedicated. Gives facts in the life of Sir William Johnson, who came to America in June, 1738. He was born in the County of Meath, Ireland. Contains the genealogy of five generations of the Johnson family.

Schuyler, W: Under Pontius Pilate: being a part of the correspondence between Caius Claudius Proculus in Judea and Lucius Domitius Ahenobarbus at Athens in the years 28 and 29 A.D.; tr. and ed. by W: Schuyler. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1906. c. 5+353 p. il. D. cl., +$1.50.

The story of the three years of the ministry of Jesus among the Jews is supposed to be told in letters written by the nephew of Pontius Pilate, a soldier, to his friend, a learned scholar among the aesthetic, philosophical Greeks. The letter writer becomes a believer after watching the followers of the inspired Teacher, notably Mary of Magdala, around whom the romance of the tale is especially woven. Illustrated with photographs of the celebrated pictures of the old masters.

Seawell, Molly Elliot. The victory. N. Y., Appleton, 1906. [O.] c. 5+405 p. il. D. cl., +$1.50.

The Civil War is the background of this romance, which introduces as characters the Virginia family of Tremaines, mother and father, three sons and an adopted daughter, Angela. At the opening of the war the elder son decides to remain with the Northern side; but before leaving home, he and Angela are hastily married. Her position at home becomes difficult because of her connection with a Northern soldier. Then later another man enters into her life and, though she finds she loves him, her honor and loyalty to her husband, fighting on the other side, win for her the great victory over her own heart. Chances of war intervene and bring mutual happiness out of sorrow.

Sill, E: Rowland. The poetical works of Edward Rowland Sill. Household ed. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1906. c. '67-'00. 13+423 p. por. D. cl., $1.50.

Edward Rowland Sill died in 1887. In 1902 the Houghtons issued a limited edition of his works, compiled by William Belmont Parker. This new edition, prepared by the same editor, who has tried to arrange the poems chronologically, contains fifty new titles and a considerable body of works until now unknown to the public. Biographical sketch, and two indexes—of first lines and titles.

Smith, Charlotte Curtis. The girls of Pine-ridge; with il. from drawings by Beatrice Baxter Ruyl. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. [O.] c. 5+287 p. D. cl., +$1.50.

A love for the woods and for all kinds of birds and animals is the dominant note of the book. Its characters are young girls, whose simple plays and amusements, in which their numerous "pets" take part, are animatedly described.

Smith, Frank Berkeley. In London town; il. by the author and other artists. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1906. [S.] c. 4-272 p. D. cl., **$1.50 net.

By no means a guide book or historical survey, but after the manner of the author's three studies of Paris, a series of racy impressions of London seen "through Parisian spectacles set in an American frame." The hotels, the music halls, the old taverns, Sunday at Brighton, a week-end in a fine country house, Piccadilly by night and the Strand by day, all are sketched by the author, who is a son of F. Hopkinson Smith, in words and pictures.

of happy days. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. c. 11+169 p. D. cl., **$1.25 net.
A selection from the poets and a verse from the scriptures for each day in the year.

Taggart, Marion Ames. Pussy-cat town; il. in cols. by Rebecca Chase. Bost., L. C. Page & Co., [1906. S.] c. 7+245 p. O. (The roses of St. Elizabeth ser.) cl., $1.

The story of the cats who built Purrington-on-the-Meuse and lived there in peace and happiness with each other. The incidents of their lives are quite varied. They have visitors, a five o'clock catnip tea, an election, a wedding, and other characteristic frolics. The text is large, interspersed with pictures of cats of all sizes.

Taylor, Hobart Chatfield Chatfield-. Molière: a biography; with an introd. by T. F. Crane; il. by Job. N. Y., Duffield & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 25+446 p. O. cl., **$3 net.

The aim has been to tell the story of Molière's life for English readers. With this in view the author has translated all the quoted passages, whether in prose or verse, using English heroic measure for the excerpts from Molière's versified plays. The student may find in the appendix the quoted poetical passages in the original French. The author has long been a student of the French life and literature and the drama of the seventeenth century. He continued this study in the home of Molière, collecting everything of value relating to his subject. Appendix. Chronology (9 p.). Bibliography (16 p.) contains the titles, authors, and whenever possible, the original date of publication of the works consulted or quoted in the preparation of this volume. The authorities for important passages are given in the footnotes. Ten full-page illustrations from rare prints.

Thoreau, H. D.: Friendship. N. Y., Thomas Y. Crowell & Co., [1906.] c. 56 p. front. D. (Chiswick ser.) cl., **50 c. net.

One of Thoreau's delightful essays; printed in black and red type.

Thurston, Ernest Temple. Traffic: the story of a faithful woman. N. Y., George W. Dillingham Co., [1906.] c. 8+11-379 p. front. D. cl., +$1.50.

By the author of "The apple of Eden." Taking a young girl from the peasant class of Ireland, strictly brought up in the Catholic faith, the author makes her career illustrate what he claims is the attitude of the Catholic church towards divorce. The girl is forced into marriage with a man she loathes, who beats her and is unfaithful to her. She leaves him and flies to London, where she earns a living as waitress in a restaurant, and for a time is comparatively happy. A man then comes into her life, who is ignorant of her marriage, and asks her to be his wife. She tells him her story, and although she loves him, positively refuses to apply for a divorce and marry him, fearing excommunication by the church. She sinks to the lowest stage of degradation that a woman can reach, asserting that God will forgive her this sin, but not that of divorcing her husband.

Tyrrell, Rev. G.: External religion: its use and abuse. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1906. 9+166 p. D. cl., *$1 net.

First published in this country by B. Herder in 1900. Written from a Roman Catholic standpoint. By the author of "Lex orandi," "Lex credendi," "Hard sayings," etc.

Van Dyke, H. Jackson, D.D. The Americanism of Washington. N. Y., Harper, 1906. [S.] c. 3+72 p. nar. S. cl., 50 c.

Dr. Van Dyke prefaces his exposition by saying that certain historians and critics have been disposed to deny Washington's true Americanism. This, he thinks, comes from a misinterpretation of the real significance of the word "American," and he proceeds to give an inspiring definition and to show that Washington, because he was devoted to the common interest, because he refused no peril, withheld no sacrifice, should justly be called, first of all, an American.

Van Vorst, Mrs. J. Letters to women in love. N. Y., Appleton, [1906. O.] c. 3+309 p. D. cl., +$1.50.

Collection of letters supposed to have been written by an elderly woman, rich in worldly experience, to four different women, who are made typical cases of femininity. There is the adored American society girl, experimenting in love; there is the widow nearing forty, jealous and demanding; the young married woman, with aspirations beyond her home; and the other married woman, who amuses herself with an affaire. To each of these Mrs. Van Vorst gives counsel and sympathy.

Virgil [Lat. Virgilius] Maro, Publius. The Aeneid of Virgil; tr. by E. Fairfax Taylor; with an introd. and notes by E. M. Forster. N. Y., Putnam, 1906. 2 v., 18+350; 4+363 p. por. map, S. (Temple Greek and Latin classics; ed. by G. Lowes Dickinson and H. O. Meredith.) $2.

The Latin text and the English translation are on facing pages. The introduction gives a sketch of Virgil's life; the history and functions of Aeneas, and an account of the object of the poem.

Wells, Amos Russel. Donald-Barton and the doings of the Ajax Club; il. by Josephine Bruce. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. [S.] c. 6+307 p. D. cl., +$1.50.

"The glen," a picturesque spot near a country town in Ohio, where a dozen boys, calling themselves the Ajax Club, had been in the habit of holding their meetings, is the leading topic of a boys' book. At the time the story opens "The glen" had been bought by a stock company and the boys forbidden to enter it. Many stirring adventures result between the Ajax Club boys and the most disreputable boys in the town, each set trying to force itself into the old club grounds. "The glen" at last becomes a public park, through the Ajax boys' agitation of the matter.

Wells, Carolyn. Dorrance doings: a story; il. by W. F. Stecher; [sequel to "The Dorrance Domain."] Bost., W. A. Wilde Co., [1906.] c. 351 p. D. cl., +$1.50.

Continues the record of the four Dorrance young people during the year following their hotel-keeping experience, chronicled in "The Dorrance Domain." Now they move to a big, rambling, half-finished house called the Flower Folly in New Jersey, where their pluck and ingenuity enable them to meet many emergencies. They go into the candy-making business and also ferret out the mystery of the lost statue, and incidentally have unlimited frolics and nonsense.

Wesselhoeft, Mrs. Elizabeth Foster Pope. Ready, the reliable; il. from drawings by Chase Emerson. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1906. [O.] c. 265 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The story of "Ready, the reliable," a stray dog, who found a good home in a family where there were several children, and a cat named "Scratch" of course involves the story of the family. The mother is a widow, with straitened means. Her husband's uncle, a rich man, who has avoided her for years, is won over by the sweet nature of the youngest child. How "Ready" and "Scratch," "Hetty" the maid and the family enjoy the prosperity that comes through the uncle is the story.

White, Fred M. The corner house. N. Y., R. F. Fenno & Co., [1906.] c. 317 p. col. il. D. cl., $1.50.

A young physician, engaged to be married to the governess of the Countess Lalage, makes arrangements to rent "the corner house" for a home. It is in view of the mansion of the Countess, who has herself fallen in love with the physician, and many weird sights and strange lights begin to appear in "the corner house," which bring about a peculiar detective story.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 13, 1906.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

PREPARING A CATALOGUE OF SECOND-HAND BOOKS FOR THE PRINTER.*

IN preparing their titles for a printed catalogue some booksellers, from a motive of economy, utilize their stock-list cards, editing them to suit their purposes by underlining the portions they wish omitted. Such a practice is to be deprecated because, in the first place, as such copy cannot always be made absolutely clear, the printing cost would be considerably enhanced by the charges for time taken by the printer to correct unavoidable errors as well as for the extra time consumed in deciphering the copy, and in the second place, especially if the printer lives at a distance, because there is risk in losing the cards, the replacing of which would cost the bookseller considerable time and trouble, even if he were able to remember all the data he confided to these records of his business, which is very improbable.

It will therefore be more economical, as well as safer, to prepare new cards for the printer, which will not be so formidable or expensive an undertaking as would appear at a first glance, provided the original card has been carefully prepared on a uniform basis, and the copyist, who need not necessarily be a high-priced assistant, is properly instructed as to the portions which must be omitted.

*Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling." A list of authorities quoted will be given on conclusion.

Indeed, such work would be excellent practice for any apprentice, as it would both acquaint him with the books in stock and train him in careful cataloguing.

In preparing a catalogue for the printer it is essential to bear in mind the following points:

(1) The author's family name should be printed either in CAPITALS or SMALL CAPITALS of the type in which the whole title is printed, followed by a comma, as DICKINSON, or BEAUFOY, or in a heavier faced type, such as clarendon, the first letter only being in capitals, as Kent. The given name should follow in plain letters, with a period, as Horace., without the parenthesis affected by some booktrade cataloguers. This would give the bookseller the choice of the following three forms: DICKINSON, J.; BEAUFOY, Mark., and Kent, W.: Saville. The given name, as already noted, should be abbreviated according to such a rule as that adopted by the American Library Association, now well and widely known, or according to some other rule, provided it is uniform and intelligible to the general reader. Whenever there may be any doubt as to the intelligibility of an abbreviation even according to a standard rule the name should be given in full.

Title, rank, etc., need not be considered except when it may be necessary to distinguish two authors of the same name, as for example, Skinner, T.; and Skinner, T., M.D.

Pseudonymous works should be catalogued under the author's real name unless the pseudonym is better known, as George Sand, George Eliot and others. Anonymous books are catalogued under the first word (not an article) or under a subject catch-word.

Collections should be catalogued under the name of the editor.

Works published by societies, communities and governments when bearing no author's names, are catalogued under the name of the society, etc., under whose auspices it is published.

Laws should be entered under the name of the collector or digester, though where a collection of law books is catalogued it would be well also to refer to them under the names of the countries. For assistance in this department Charles C. Soule's "Lawyers' Reference Manual of Law Books and Citations," even though published twenty-two years ago, will still be found serviceable.

(2) The title should be given as full as may be necessary to convey to the reader clearly the character and scope of the book. Except in the cases of rare or curious books the mottoes, etc., may be omitted.

(3) The edition should always be noted, including the name of the editor, if his name is given. If the book is a first or rare edition attention should be called to the fact. It is not necessary in cataloguing ordinary books to note that the edition has been "enlarged" or "improved," though such information might be desirable or even necessary in cataloguing scientific or classical books. In most cases it will suffice to note that it is a second or third revised edition.

(4) The number of volumes, or parts, when a work consists of several volumes or parts, must always be given. In case of a long set, if a work lacks certain volumes or parts, the set may be reported as a whole, and the missing portions noted in a sentence following this item.

(5) The place and date of publication should never be omitted, whereas the name of the publisher of a modern book may be left in doubt. In the case of the works of famous printers, such as Aldus Manutius, Elzevir, Franklin, Morris and others of like repute, it is self-evident that the value of a work would be often considerably enhanced if the name of the printer were also given, though, naturally, not all works by famous printers are valuable simply because they were issued from their presses, any more than because they are several hundreds of years old. When neither place of publication, name of publisher or date is given on the title-page, the missing data, if known to the cataloguer should be supplied in brackets [ ], or if unknown the fact should be made known by the conventional sine loco, typogr. et anno.

(6) Illustrations, maps and other supplementary matter should be fully reported. It happens occasionally that illustrations, plates and maps vary in the same edition of a book, or are missing altogether, or that only a few copies, either in the first or later edition, were supplied with an illustration or a map, while the remaining copies lack these. Naturally, a book containing the missing matter is more valuable than those that are without it. Often a book is desirable only because it contains a certain illustration or map.

(7) The size, though omitted by some booksellers, is essential, especially as a book is often simultaneously published in various shapes and sizes by the same publisher. It is also better to give the size in each case instead of letting the reader assume, as many booksellers do, that every book catalogued is, for example, an octavo, unless another size is actually given.

(8) The binding should be described, whether in the original paper covers, in cloth jacket, in extra binding, etc.

(9) Price. After which should follow the annotations, a subject to which we may refer in another article on this subject.

These nine points will be found to comprehend the essential points to be covered in preparing a title for the printed catalogue, and are intended chiefly for the guidance of the novice in cataloguing. The ambitious cataloguer will find further and more scientific guides through the intricacies of bibliography in the works already referred to, namely, in Cutter's "Rules for a Dictionary Catalog" and in Dewey's "Library School Card Catalog Rules."

COMMUNICATIONS.

A BOOKSELLERS' ORGANIZATION.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: While the easiest and most effective "way out," is by the action of the publishers on the lines I have indicated, and any successful effort by booksellers must be in some measure, at least, with their approval, if not co-operation, it is certainly possible for booksellers independently to co-operate with very great advantage to themselves, and it is believed that an organization of booksellers, even in case of the publishers taking the wise action indicated, would be highly advantageous. Therefore I present herewith an outline of plans for an American Associated Booksellers' Organization.

The writer stands ready to practice what he preaches, and will join, even with so few as one hundred dealers in good standing, to form such an organization and will put into its stock and certificates $500 or more, and as a dealer in books, will back it with such trade as he commands, and as a publisher of books will give its members exclusive local agencies and also exclusive miscellaneous trade in their localities of the publications and specialties of Alden Brothers at most liberal "bottom" terms.

If there are one hundred others ready to do as much, $50,000 will certainly serve us jointly in making purchases better than we can make them separately, and the organizers will have, of course, the dictation of plans, and the power of approving of subsequent membership. A thousand, or several thousand dealers, one only from one town, with $1,000,000 or more associated capital would certainly be a power for mutual good.

It should be noted that the plans do not provide for the special "grinding of anybody's axes;" there should be no room for possible dictatorship or special leadership. The salaried manager should be, of course, an outsider, with no antagonistic interests; there is no necessity in the nature of the business of his being an especially strong or expensive man; simply a good, square, industrious, level-headed buyer and overseer of routine business. In the mere matter of looking after "remainders," "job lots" and special bargains for the members, a manager in New York City ought to be worth several times his salary.

A. A. B. S. PLANS FOR AMERICAN ASSOCIATED BOOKSELLERS ORGANIZATION.

First. Incorporate, as a matter of convenience and legal safety, with nominal capital of $1000 to $10,000.

Second. Issue for cash, profit-sharing certificates, $100 each, indefinitely expansive and elastic, according to general and individual needs, giving privileges of membership and pro rata dividends of profits up to a specified rate, further profits being divided pro rata according to amount of business done.

Third. The business to be done to be strictly limited in character, to the non-speculative—buying for the members, for the cash or credit furnished by them, books actually ordered, or practically certain to be quickly wanted.

Fourth. The business to be under close supervision of trustees, but its actual conduct to be in the charge of a salaried manager and such corps of clerks as the actual business would require.

Fifth. Stock and profit-sharing certificates to be non-transferrable except by unanimous approval of trustees, the A. A. B. S. being entitled to a lien thereon for any indebtedness to it; trustees also to have right of cancellation by refunding of money.

Sixth. Certificates to be issued only by unanimous approval of trustees and to one bookseller only in any specified territory, who would be required to take necessary steps to adequately cover that territory.

IN DETAILED OPERATION.

Seventh. The manager would provide store room and shipping facilities as the business would require.

Eighth. Each member would invest not less than $100 in profit-sharing certificates, according to his judgment as to his interest.

Ninth. Charges to members by A. A. B. S. would be at the same rate to all, regardless of quantity, at an advance on cost, fixed by trustees, sufficiently large to certainly cover expenses and a liberal profit on stock and profit-sharing certificates.

Tenth. The manager would buy for stock room only such books as were considered of sure and quick sale, and necessary to buy to get quantity discount.

Eleventh. If cash should accumulate in excess of what manager and trustees deemed advisable to use for buying stock, they should redeem outstanding certificates to reduce such excess, first taking up those of members holding largest amounts, reducing all members to same amount, then, as indicated, by drawing lots.

Twelfth. It is recommended that the charge to members in advance of cost should be so large as to safely provide a dividend on stock and profit-sharing certificates of fifteen per cent., thus making an inducement to members to provide ample stock-carrying capital; any excess of profits would go pro rata to those who did the business, thus providing equitable division of profits.

Thirteenth. The joint purchases of all through the A. A. B. S. being such as to secure largest "quantity" discount, the necessity is removed of individuals taking in quantity; the difference between the "small" quantity discounts and the "large" going to members as dividends. Thus the need of tying up money in excessive stock is avoided, and the risk of sometimes buying more than one's market will take. Thus members could with limited investment carry greater variety, and of course dealers would sell all they could sell, and publishers' interest would be served even better than now.

Fourteenth. Trustees and manager should avoid absolutely temptation of speculative purchases of editions, remainders, or job lots, because of low prices; such opportunities as come to them they could by special circular letters present direct to members and give them individually the opportunity of subscribing.

Fifteenth. An information bureau should be maintained to supply information wanted about books, the individual members being charged the actual expense of answering inquiries.

Sixteenth. The plans here outlined are believed to provide for each the strength of all, for buying; work could be in absolute harmony with the A. P. A. or other publishers' plans; speculative risks are absolutely avoided, also any liability whatever of one member for another—also any credit risk whatever. Members in large credit standing who wished to use it in excess of profit-sharing certificate provisions could send "notes" to A. A. B. S. which could be used "without recourse" in making purchases.

Seventeenth. While members need not be required to make their purchases entirely through the A. A. B. S. it would be obviously for their interest, with rare exceptions, for them to do so.

Eighteenth. By wise use of suitable order blanks and simple methods, dealers making orders in duplicate, each publisher's books separately, when practicable, publishers also billing in duplicate, and large shipments being made direct from publishers, economy in cost of doing the business could be secured, and dividends to dealers thereby increased.

Very respectfully,

JOHN B. ALDEN.

BIBLE HOUSE, New York.

$10,000 FOR "THE PASSIONATE PILGRIM."

SOTHEBY'S, it is reported, recently sold at private sale to an American collector a copy of the third edition of "The Passionate Pilgrim," printed by W. Jaggard, 1612, for £200.

The only other example known was at one time in the collection of Edmond Malone and is now in the Bodleian Library.

The copy which has come to this country was the property of John E. T. Loveday, who inherited it twenty years ago, and described in Notes and Queries of August 12, 1882, how he discovered it in a dark corner behind two rows of books.

The volume consists of 62 leaves, and for its size is probably the most costly book ever sold. The name of its present owner cannot be learned.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS. BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE DINNER.

In sending out the notice of the October dinner of the Booksellers' League, to be held on the evening of the 17th, the rank of the speaker of the evening, Anthony Fiala, was inadvertently given as Commander of the Baldwin-Ziegler Expedition, instead of Commander of the Ziegler Expedition. An enjoyable evening is in prospect for the members of the League, as Mr. Fiala is not only an interesting speaker, but he has also some wonderful pictures to show. Members must notify Francis Gilman, now with Moffat, Yard & Co., 31 East Seventeenth Street, New York, by the 15th inst., otherwise no provision can be made for them at the table.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MRS. CLARA LOUISE BURNHAM has just returned to Chicago from her summer home at Bailey Island, Maine. Her new novel, "The Opened Shutters," will be published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. on October 20 and large advance sales are already reported. A twentieth printing of her recent story, "The Right Princess," has just been ordered.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, Philadelphia, announce that they are now printing the eighth edition of "The Colonel of the Red Huzzars," by John Reed Scott.

L. C. PAGE & Co., owing to the demand for an unexpectedly large edition of "The Little Colonel, Maid of Honor," have been obliged to postpone publication of the book from the 15th, as originally announced, to the 25th of October.

EDWARD J. CLODE, New York City, has now ready "The Late Tenant," by Gordon Holmes, the story of a flat in which the "late tenant" had left papers and pictures that led the new tenant to take part in an exciting romance, in which the late tenant's sister is the most important factor.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY have just issued three new novels promising pleasant hours to fiction readers: "Traffic: the Story of a Faithful Woman," by E. Temple Thurston; "The Gold Worshipers," by Harris Burland; and "The Battle of the Weak," by Mrs. Henry Dudeney.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish shortly Richard Harding Davis's farces: "The Galloper," "The Dictator," and "Miss Civilization;" Henry Van Dyke's "The Friendly Year;" Paul F. Motteley's "The Bridge Blue Book," and Thomas Nelson Page's "The Coast of Bohemia," a volume of unusually charming poems.

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY have many re-orders from the whole country for their successful new novels "Jane Cable," by George Barr McCutcheon; "The Treasure of Heaven," a romance of riches, by Marie Corelli; "Prisoners," by Mary Cholmondeley, author of "Red Pottage;" and "The Subjection of Isabel Carnaby," by Ellen Thorneycroft Fowler.

JOHN LANE COMPANY have published in book form Stephen Phillips's tragedy "Paolo and Francesca," which merits the distinction so rare in the present day of being as good a work of literature as it is a play. H. B. Irving, the son of the illustrious Sir Henry, opened his American tour with this play. They have also just ready "Why Men Remain Bachelors," by Lilian Bell; "Night and Morning," a dramatic poem by Mrs. Spencer Trask; "Stray Leaves," essays by Herbert Paul; "Napoleon in Poland," by F. Loraine Petrie; "From Fox's Earth to Mountain Tarn," telling of days among the wild animals, by J. H. Crawford; and Charles Egerton's novel of conditions in England in the times of Whitfield, the Revivalist, entitled "The Coming Dawn."

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have just ready "The Breath of the Runners," by Mary Mears, a novel of the great art-world just beginning to be known in our young land, with scene laid in a section of New York little known even by the people that pass it daily. The intensity of struggle for success by the chief characters is dramatic and convincing. They will also soon put out "My Resolutions: Buster Brown," R. F. Outcault's latest book of worldly wit and wisdom, illustrated with his incomparable pictures. A second large edition is already called for of "The Cattle-Baron's Daughter," by Arthur Bindloss, whose "Alton of Somasco" was such a pronounced success.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready "Sophy of Kravonia," a story of love and adventure in which the author has returned to the method of his early Zenda, and, following out a strikingly conceived plot, has taken his heroine from obscurity in England to become Queen of Kravonia—with an interregnum of being Keeper of the (non-existent!) Tapestries; also, a story for little folks by Mrs. Gabrielle E. Jackson, entitled "Wee Winkles and Snowball," which forms a sequel to the author's "Wee Winkles and Wide Awake." They will publish shortly, under the title of "Poems for Young Americans," a volume containing those verses by Will Carleton which are peculiarly adapted to younger readers.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just brought out a new book by Margaret Sangster entitled "Fairest Girlhood," which promises to be as popular as her "Winsome Womanhood," but is written about and written for girls a little younger than the earlier book; "Why the Robin's Breast is Red," by Emma Gellibrand, author of "J. Cole," a dainty story daintily told, which, like every proper interpretation of animal life, is allegorically suggestive to the adult and a fascinating story to the child; "The Silver Maple," a story of Upper Canada, by Marian Keith, author of "Duncan Polite;" "Jesus' Habits of Prayer" and "Keeping Tryst," two small books by S. D. Gordon, the author of the popular devotional books "Quiet Talks on Prayer," etc.; "The Folly of Unbelief," and other meditations for quiet moments, by the Rev. J. H. Jowett; "The Orbit of Life," studies in human experience by William T. Heridge, minister of St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa, Canada; also, "Studies in Early Church History," by H. T. Sell, author of the popular Bible Study Series.

D. APPLETON & CO. have just brought out Jane Findlater's new novel, "The Ladder to the Stars," which deals with the struggles of an ambitious little girl to rise in the world; "Letters to Women in Love," by Mrs. John Van Vorst, a novel in the form of letters written by a middle-aged woman, who has had experience in the matter of love, to several young women who are in love, whose love is waning, whose love is mature, and whose love is dead. They announce a new novel by Myra Kelly, to be called "Enchantment." The book will mark this author's first accomplishment of a full-size novel, and the story is said to be characterized by that humor and intimate knowledge of human emotions which the writings of Myra Kelly have led her readers to expect from her pen. They have also in preparation "Hearts Triumphant," by a new writer, Edith Sessions Tupper, a romantic story of the days of Betty Jumel, Aaron Burr, Jerome Bonaparte and other well-known characters; "The Avenging Hour," by H. F. Prevost Battersby, said to be an interesting story, remarkable in its handling of a delicate subject with convincing discernment and reserve; also, "Mountain Land," an attractive story for children, by Robert W. Chambers.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have recently published the following illustrated books for the young: "Janet: Her Winter in Quebec," the second volume in the popular Sidney Stories for Girls, by Anna Chapin Ray; "Nancy Rutledge and Her Friends," written and illustrated by Katharine Pyle; "The Flight of Puss Pandora," the story of an apartment house cat by Caroline Fuller; "The Dear Old Home," a story of Pennsylvania Dutch children by Sara Ellmaker Ambler; "Boy Blue and His Friends," stories of child life by Etta Austin Blaisdell and Mary Frances Blaisdell; "Pelham and His Friend Tim," a boys' story by Allen French; "Roberta and Her Brothers," a story for girls by Alice Ward Bailey; "Long Ago in Greece," a book of golden hours with the old story tellers by Edmund J. Carpenter; "In Eastern Wonderlands," the story of a trip around the world by Charlotte Chaffee Gibson; "Playtime," little stories for the youngest readers by Clara Murray; "Blackie—his Friends and his Enemies," a book of old fables in new dresses by Madge A. Bigham; and "Donald Barton and the Doings of the Ajax Club," an exciting boys' book by Amos R. Wells. They have also just ready a new Library edition of Plutarch's Works, edited by A. H. Clough, W. W. Goodwin and R. W. Emerson, comprising Plutarch's Lives in five volumes and Plutarch's Essays and Miscellanies in five volumes; and "The Economy of Happiness," the philosophy of common sense, by James MacKaye.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have published this week "The Flocks," by Mary Austin, an idyll of the shepherd's life and work in California and a most fascinating out-door book, illustrated and decorated by E. Boyd Smith; "Kristy's Rainy Day Picnic," by Olive Thorne Miller, an admirably happy story for girls, with colored pictures by Ethel N. Farnsworth; "Nelson, the Adventurer," by Nora Archibald Smith, a story for young people, describing the adventures of three American boys in Ireland, forming a laughable and wholesome book, and incidentally giving an interesting picture of parts of Ireland; "Through Man to God," by Dr. George A. Gordon, the title of which was suggested by John Fiske's "Through Nature to God," but in which the author interprets the Eternal, not through nature, but through human nature, not through the lower expression of the creative power, but through man, the highest expression; "Friends on the Shelf," by Bradford Torrey, twelve essays dealing with an interpretation of Thoreau's teaching and his attitude towards nature, a discussion of Hazlitt and his habit of examining his own sensations, a biographical and critical study of Edward Fitz-Gerald and other topics; "Organized Democracy," by Albert Stickney, a political argument based on the belief that Americans are free in name only and are practically slaves of "the machine;" also, the sixth volume of the Proceedings of the International Congress of Arts and Sciences at St. Louis, September, 1904, dealing with the Departments of Medicine and of Technology.

PERSONAL NOTES.

ARTHUR E. WATKINS, for twenty years with DeWolfe & Fiske Co., has resigned his position with that firm to assume charge of the retail department of the St. Paul Book and Stationery Co., at St. Paul, Minn. His many friends wish him success in his new position.

BUSINESS NOTES.

MARIETTA, O.—The Marietta Book Store Co. has been incorporated by Elmer E. Trotter, J. Clinton Crooks, William M. Sprague, C. R. Williamson and Lucie L. Trotter.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Mershon Company have sold their publishing business, and their extensive line of books will hereafter be controlled by the Chatterton-Peck Company, at 156 Fifth Avenue, who have taken over as well the Stitt publications. Charles H. Peck has been for some time with the Mershon Company, and has an extensive acquaintance with the trade. A. L. Chatterton has been for nearly thirty years a publisher of technical books and periodicals.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—J. H. McCahey, for many years buyer of books and stationery for Callender, McAusland & Troop Co., has opened up business for himself at 44 Washington Street which he names The Caxton Book Rooms. Mr. McCahey would be pleased to receive the latest publishers' lists and announcements.

RAHWAY, N. J.—Articles of incorporation have been filed at Elizabeth, N. J., by the Quinn & Boden Printing Company, capitalized for $200,000, to begin operations with a paid in capital of $102,000. It will take over the business of the Mershon Printing Works here. The incorporators are Michael Quinn, of Brooklyn; Benjamin Boden, of New York, and Eugene J. Shaughnessy, of Beacon Avenue, Jersey City.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

IN answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

IN Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," book-sellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

"A Look on the Brighter Side" and "Cheeriness"

Here are two unusually attractive books for the holiday season. We are publishing these books in connection with A. M. Robertson, of San Francisco, who secured the publication rights early this year. An edition was issued by the author in California last year, and Mr. Robertson sold nearly a thousand at retail. In taking up these books we think Mr. Robertson has shown the same rare judgment as when he started the sale of "The Honorable Peter Stirling" when it was first issued. Get these books—read them, and you'll understand the secret of their popularity.

A LOOK ON THE BRIGHTER SIDE. By W. R. Rutherford. A series of optimistic essays, the keynote of which is found in the little quotation on the fly leaf:

"Have you had a kindness shown?
Pass it on."

"Twas not given for you alone—
Pass it on."

Let it travel down the years,
Let it wipe another's tears,
'Till in heaven the deed appears—
Pass it on."

Bound in a very attractive style. Imperial Japan sides, cloth back, bookmark, special end papers, boxed, 4 $\frac{1}{4}$  x 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ , 75 cents; leather, \$1.25.

CHEERINESS. By W. R. Rutherford. A companion volume by the author of "A Look on the Brighter Side." You will miss a most delightful book if you omit "Cheeriness" from your holiday list.

"Have you any cheering greeting?
Tell it out to-day;
While you wait, the friend and message
May have gone away."

Bound uniform with "A Look on the Brighter Side." Boxed, 4 $\frac{1}{4}$  x 6 $\frac{1}{4}$ , 75 cents; leather, \$1.25.

ACYNIC'S MEDITATIONS is one of those charming, tempting, rare combinations of wit and philosophy that make you hunger and thirst—like the proverbial Oliver—for "more." Few writers have the genius and inspiration to write epigrams like Walter Pulitzer. The book is full of just such cleverness as to make you rush back to your bookseller for additional copies to give your friends.

JOHN KENDRICK BANGS said, "All the epigrams are pleasing, and many of them are delicious. I'd like to steal that one about the American who is 'never so energetic as when he tries to be idle.'" And there are a great many other clever people who would like to steal such clever epigrams as, "Generally speaking a woman is—generally speaking."

The praise from the press has been lavish both in this country and England. If you haven't seen "A CYNIC'S MEDITATION" better order a copy to-day. Price, boards, decorated and illustrated, postpaid, 75 cents.

GAMES FOR EVERYBODY. By May C. Hoffman. An ideal book for the entertainer; full of helpful suggestions and games for children and adults. About fifty pages are given up to the most popular games for children. The remainder of the volume is devoted to games for adults. 5 x 7½, cloth, 50 cents.

RELECTIONS OF A BACHELOR. "Being good is an awful lonesome job," so says the writer of this book of clever sayings. If you wish to give some friend an unusual book just get a copy of this one; it is full of bright and witty paragraphs. New edition printed in two colors. Old Maid's edition, showing the end of the bachelor—a skeleton in a box. 4½ x 5, boards, 50 cents; Old Maid's edition, boxed, $1.00.

The above are only a few of the many good things we have to offer the trade for the coming holiday season. We would suggest a personal visit to our comfortable sample rooms, if convenient, but if you cannot visit us we promise you careful and prompt attention by mail. Samples will be cheerfully forwarded to responsible booksellers and advertising literature gratis. If you have not got our booklet, "Good Things for Booklovers," send for it to-day

DON'T MISS THESE

CAPTAIN COURTESY

By

Edward Childs Carpenter

An absorbing tale of old Mission days in California, full of action and charming sentiment; told with sincerity and distinction.

12mo, cloth, decorative cover. With five illustrations in color by Elenore Plaisted Abbott.

Price, $1.50

Trusia

A PRINCESS OF KROVITCH. By DAVIS BRINTON. This tale perhaps suggests the "Graustark" kind of novel more than anything else. There is the same rapid action, the same intense interest, the same glamor of romance, and the same exciting situations that made that sort of book famous. 12mo. Cloth, stamped in gold. With illustrations in color and black and white by Walter H. Everett. Price $1.50.

Made In His Image

By GUY THORNE, author of "When it was Dark." The phenomenal success of Mr. Guy Thorne's novel, "When it was Dark," which has attained to a sale far in excess of almost any novel of modern times, ensures a big welcome for this new story from his pen. 12mo. Cloth. Price $1.50.

Queen of the Rushes

A ROMANCE OF THE WELSH COUNTRY. By ALLEN RAINES, author of "A Welsh Singer." Allen Raine's new novel is quite an up-to-date story, showing the life of the Welsh people of to-day in realistic manner. 12mo. Cloth. Price $1.50.

A Yarn of Old Harbour Town

A SEA ROMANCE. By W. CLARK RUSSELL. A tale that breathes the freshness and freedom of the sea. 12mo. Cloth. Price $1.50.

We purpose telling here and in the great Religious and Secular periodicals why the people demand THE AMERICAN STANDARD BIBLE, and why booksellers should sell it. The

American Standard Bible

is the Perfect Bible. Edited by the American Revision Committee

WHAT IT IS AND WHO MADE IT

It is a new translation of the Bible made by a Committee of the most eminent American Biblical Scholars who had at their command all the material made use of by the old revisers, and in addition to that the priceless manuscripts and tablets, which have been discovered in the last three hundred years, and which throw such a flood of new light on the Scriptures.

The American Committee composed of the greatest scholars of the nation, representing the great universities, theological seminaries and evangelical denominations of America, spent nearly thirty years in the preparation of this work. It was a spiritual task, a reverent undertaking for humanity, for which these scholars gave their time, scholarship, and experience, without pay or compensation.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE-LIST ANNUAL

A Few Recent Appreciations

★ "One of the reference catalogues that aim to help wide-awake dealers and provide that knowledge of books as merchandise which every book-loving customer so much appreciates in a well-equipped shop."—The Newsdealer.

★ "It sometimes happens, we know, that a dealer in a fit of misdirected economy will try to get along with his last year's Annual, but the experiment soon becomes an aggravation, for he quickly finds out that he cannot afford to have his bibliographical equipment a whole year behindhand."—The Publisher and Retailer.

★ "The humblest dealer in the smallest town needs his 'Trade-List.'"—Geyer's Stationer.

★ "The man who first spoke of the 'Publishers' Trade-List Annual' as the Bible of the book trade, uttered a fitting phrase but used a simile that is open to at least one criticism. If the holy book was as often consulted by the public in proportion as the Trade-List is by the bookseller the cry that it is a 'neglected book' would never be heard, for in every shop and in every public library this familiar 'jumbo' in pebbled green is in constant daily use."—The Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer.

Bibliographical Helps

ISSUED FROM
THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year; to foreign countries, $4.00 a year.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $12.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Annual American Catalog, 1905

Contains in one alphabet a record of all books published that year, under author, title, subject and series entries; also under author's name an alphabetical list of the same titles with descriptive annotations from The Publishers' Weekly, etc. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume. Indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

Whitaker's Reference Catalogue of Current Literature, 1906. (London, J. Whitaker & Sons.)

(The trade price-lists of all the British publishers.) 2 vols., half leather binding, $5.00.

The Library Journal

Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Library Index to Periodicals and Current Events

Published monthly, with a quarterly cumulation (indexing the periodicals taken in most libraries, large and small). Subscription, $3.00 per year. Single monthly numbers, 25 cents; quarterly numbers, 50 cents each.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and H. E. HAINES. (Published annually) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

English Catalogue of Books, 1901-1905

The record of these five years in one continuous alphabet. (Seventh volume of series.) 8vo, half morocco, $20.00.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3876 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1905. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWELL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1,000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States. # AUTUMN BOOKS

The Pond in the Marshy Meadow

By ANNE HELENA WOODRUFF.

Illustrated by H. H. BENNETT.

The "Spirit of the Pond" enables a Boy and Girl to hear and to see all that takes place in the Pond. The King, an old snapping-turtle, tells them a fund of pond-lore, and they make friends with Bobby Bullfrog, Mr. Trout, Mrs. Water-Spider, and dozens of the other subjects in this domain.

"A captivating nature story with exquisite half-tone illustrations."—Detroit Free Press.

"The Pond in the Marshy Meadow" will rank well up among the books issued for the holiday trade if mechanical excellence and attractiveness are prime factors."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

8vo, ornamental cloth, fifty half-tones, $1.50.

Candle Light

By GEORGIA ROBERTS DURSTON.

Illustrated by KATHARINE H. GREENLAND.

Our colored juveniles are the best selling children's books on the market, and "Candle Light" is the best in the list. A book of simple, beautiful verse, with numerous drawings by Miss Greenland, famous for her illustrations of child-life.

Quarto, boards, printed in colors, $1.25.

Flower Babies

By ELIZABETH MAY.

Illustrated by IDA MAY ROCKWELL.

"It is full of pictures of flowers in their natural colors and every page has an illustration of some phase of child-life—and most exquisitely done. It would be hard to find a more pleasing gift-book for children."—Nashville American.

Quarto, boards, in colors, $1.25.

Witch Crow and Barney Bylow

By JAMES BALL NAYLOR.

Illustrated by CARLL B. WILLIAMS.

A boy who loves adventure, a Witch Crow who has magic powers, a hasty wish which is fulfilled by the perverse Witch Crow—and the children have a "rattling good story."

Quarto, boards, illustrations in colors, and pen and ink sketches. $1.00.

Squeaks and Squawks from Far-Away Forests

By BURTON STONER.

Illustrated by CHARLES LIVINGSTON BULL.

Boys and girls delight in animal stories, especially the unusual animal stories Burton Stoner writes. "Jim Crow Tales" sold by the thousand last year, and his new book is far better.

Charles Livingston Bull illustrated the book with drawings in colors.

Boards, quarto. $1.00.

The Woodland Elf

By FLORENCE A. EVANS.

Illustrated by CARLL B. WILLIAMS.

"There never was a more delightful story written for children than 'The Woodland Elf.' It is simply charming, and though the primary object may have been to open young eyes to the treasures of wood lore, it is so skillfully hidden that no one would imagine it was there. The mother who jots the name of this volume down on her Christmas list will be sure to do the right thing."—Kansas City Post.

12mo, cloth, illustrated, $0.60.
